
Floating
Residences
BY buddha-bar

Some things in life aren't measured, but experienced;
like a horizon that you can call your own.

Welcome to the world's first bouquet of floating residences by Buddha-Bar, a sequenced experience where every level unveils a new sensory portal to your dimensions of living.

This is your choreography of spaces that read like chapters: thresholds that set mood, terraces that frame infinity, and interiors that open toward sound and the sea.

Each floor is purposefully composed to reveal a different facet of life, so your daily ritual becomes architecture in motion.

Anchored by Buddha-Bar's signature curation, your residence is simultaneously a private sanctuary and an active participant in its environment. Because when you dwell on the horizon, there's plenty of space for the sun, sand, and sea.

The Upper Level

Move across the top deck as if through a slow ceremony: a muted dawn that warms the day, refined hours beside a sculpted jacuzzi, and evenings so still that you feel at peace. The sea and skyline make every glance a small revelation; one with clear paths, generous setbacks, and framed views.

The Sea Level

Here, life follows the tempo of the Gulf: breakfasts inhaled on salt-bright air, afternoons with music carried on the breeze, and long dinners that feel effortless. Daylight finds hammocks and shallow terraces suspended over water; night softens into curated privacy. This is living tuned to a gentler tempo.

Interiors and Finishes

A muted palette that lets the sea take the lead.

At the Floating Residences by Buddha-Bar, each material and finish has been curated like a fine vintage: Bentley Home furnishings for poised opulence, warm tactile woods, veined stone, maritime glass, and textiles that invite touch.

Surfaces are chosen to mature with time; quiet, storied, and intentionally restrained; so light, sound, and tide remain the drama, and the home becomes a collection of lived textures.

From the creators of the extraordinary.
